

Royal Pier Waterfront

A vibrant new waterfront

Whilst this exhibition focuses on the emerging plans for Trafalgar Dock, it is important to understand how these proposals fit into the wider plans for the waterfront area.

A place to: enjoy / relax and dine / shop / play / live / work / travel / enjoy maritime heritage

An exciting
new waterfront
for Southampton

The vision is to transform Mayflower Park and Royal Pier into a world-class waterfront destination and extend the city centre to the waterfront. This will become a bustling, vibrant place bringing together leisure, high quality shops, restaurants, cafés, harbour-side living and high quality office space. The development will include hotels, a major new city park, and will also bring together ferry services in a first class facility. The PSP Southampton Boat Show will continue to be held at the site.

The exact form of development proposed on this site is still being designed and tested. A further opportunity to make comments will be provided in spring 2015.

Central to the new waterfront quarter is the renaissance and extension of Mayflower Park:

- The vision is to create an inspirational and contemporary urban park, providing a place for public enjoyment at the meeting of the historic city and the busy maritime environment.
- The park will celebrate the city's maritime connections and history, creating a new water's-edge with places to sit and promenade enjoying the varied maritime activities.
- The existing facilities that currently make the park popular will be re-provided.
- The landscape, themes, and materials used within the new park will flow through the new built development, providing a high quality landscaped setting within which the buildings will sit.

the development should be something innovative whilst keeping the heritage of the city
